

So that was August

Dearest parents and lovely carers,

We're back with a bang! The whole school was painted and new flooring and carpets were laid throughout. Staff were in over the holidays cleaning and clearing for our lovely lads returning. We still have lots to do, and if you've ever moved house, you'll feel sorry for us as we had to pack up everything we own.

The pupils have been busy setting up class rules and codes of conduct for our new school year. They are also writing charters for how we should behave in the taxi, at lunch tables, at playtime and safety online. The lads write these, link it to our Rights work and teach the other classes.

Ms Lawrence's guys will make the anti-bullying charter and Ms Ashcroft will work with her nurture class to write a special playroom code. The whole school will write 'The Pentland Peace Pledge' as a team.

Our new project will be about India and the children will look at the life of a Scottish child and a child from India. They will study the geography of the lands and will look again in depth at the Convention of the Rights of the Child.

The lads also have plans to organise a full blown election campaign to appoint a new pupil council.

We are welcoming our new recruits over the first few weeks and will hopefully have a full house by the 8.9.15.

Just to let you know, you may get jotters home or at the end of term have received jotters from school. Those would be from the year before as we keep the most recent for our files.

Thank you in advance for your help and support with the lads.

It's all about working as a team for the benefit of our bairns.

Yours
Carla
